

My MAP Moment

Summer Reading

YourReadingPath.com offers parents and students an opportunity to find books that correlate to each student's MAP Reading RIT score. Summer reading allows students to continue their reading progress and come back in the fall prepared to move to the next reading level.

We all understand that reading is essential to academic achievement and that building a library at home supports reading pleasure. Now there is an exciting new resource to help make MAP data actionable in the classroom and at home.

We encourage you to check out the links below to access the website and a wealth of information and resources. It's as simple as point and click!
