

Title I Parent & Family Information

Your Rights

Under the law, parents and families must:

- Be included in Title I budget decision-making and the development of a parent and family engagement policy that is distributed to all parents, to the local community and announced at an annual meeting.
- Be involved in the planning and implementation of parent and family engagement programs.
- Receive materials and training for parents and staff to foster greater family engagement.
- Have the opportunity to jointly develop, with school staff, a school-home compact that outlines how parents, the entire school staff, and students will share the responsibility for improved student academic achievement.

In compliance with federal law, Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools administers all education programs, employment activities and admissions without discrimination against any person on the basis of gender, race, color, religion, national origin, age or disability.

What is Title I, Part A?

Title I is the largest federal aid program for elementary, middle and high schools. Through Title I, financial assistance is given to states and school districts to meet the needs of economically disadvantaged students and to help students who are behind academically or at risk of falling behind.

Title I began with the passage of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA). ESEA was later amended by the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) of 2015 and continues to provide federal funding to high-poverty schools. Services funded by Title I can include: hiring teachers and paraprofessionals, tutoring, purchase of instructional equipment, materials and supplies, parent and family engagement activities, professional development, and pre-kindergarten programs.

How are Title I funds used in Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools?

Small group instruction

Extended learning

Instructional materials, supplies and technology

Additional teachers and support staff for instruction

Parent and family engagement programs

Professional development

How can I get involved?

Studies have shown that children are more successful when parents and families are involved in their education.

- Make sure your child attends school every day on time and that your child completes his or her homework every day.
- Attend parent-teacher conferences, PTA meetings and workshops whenever possible in order to help your child learn.
- Make sure your child reads for 20 to 30 minutes every day. Your child can read aloud, be read to, or read to him or herself.
- Contact teachers or staff when you are concerned or have a question about your child.
- Check your child's back pack every day for home/school communication.
- Limit your child's TV and video game time and make sure your child is well-rested.
- Provide study space, reading and math materials and learning opportunities for your child, in the home, library or community and faith-based organizations.
- Volunteer in your child's class or school when possible.

Goals:

Increase academic achievement

Provide direct instructional support to students

Provide professional development to teachers

Promote parent and family education and engagement activities
